

By my side, 1995

Yesterday I stumbled down to town
I was searching for someone who knew
What I'm about to tell you.
Something's wrong with the hands we're giving
Something's wrong with the sound
Off the lies we are telling.

Now it's gone all the things that we cared for.
Now I'm here wishing time could be changed.
Help me please I have broken my heart
And I need you by my side
Yes, I need you by my side
Here by my side

One day I think I will understand
Why we lived so long without any kind of penetration
All the times that we have played around
Just make me want to say that there's no way
Out of this frustration.

Now it's gone all the things that we cared for.
Now I'm here wishing time could be changed.
Help me please I have broken my heart
And I need you by my side
Yes, I need you by my side
Here by my side

Anyway it's just a game we play
And now I have to say that we are just here
To recreate Illusions
But if you should go on changing directions
You must understand that I'm not here
To follow your obsessions

Now it's gone all the things that we cared for... ect.
