

I Love you — Skrevet i 1995

Someday I'll take a chance and I'll run
Straight into your open heart
Feels like I've been spending all my time
Waiting for brand new start

Sometimes even the hardest words to say are:
"I love you",                      I said: "I love you"

But you can trust me now and again
Trust me through all the pain
Trust me, it's safe to say

Sometimes I feel like screaming out sometimes I feel like holding on to you

Somewhere out between the nights to come
We'll find the time to bend the rules
And time will tell us what it's all about
We're not the fools with rules

So you can say the hardest words to me again:
You'll say "I love you", you'll say. "I love you"

And you can trust me now and again
Trust me through all the pain
Trust me, it's safe to say

Sometimes I feel like screaming out
Sometimes I feel like holding on this way

So if you run, run, run to me
And give your love, love, love to me
Then you will find, find, find your peace with me