

Old town, 2013

I'm not alone in this old town
There seem to be another me
It follows me around
Telling me that I can't stay right here – it's not so clear
This time there's gonna be some changes made by me
Will make me free – just wait and see

I don't know what to do with you
Seems like I have nothing else to do
Than to sit around just waiting for that call
I don't wanna be alone at all
When it seems like all my thoughts are telling me
There must be more
I will go through – without you

So listen up I'm trying to explain
I don't want to fall in love again
I just don't know how to prevent my friend
From walking in and out of the biggest house in town

This is not about you, I know now
This can only come from another place
Haunting me like a voice from the past
Maybe I will be alone at last
I think I've fallen into the deepest spell of all
Could this be me 'cause it's not you

So listen up I'm trying to explain e.c.t.

But I should know by now there are no signs
I must have been blind or have lost my mind
To fall into that spell that you have cast
This lonely town just seems to grow so fast
                    This time there's gonna be some changes made by me
                    Will make me free – just wait and see

So listen up I'm trying to explain e.c.t.