

Thoughts of you, 1997

In a little while from now
You will feel alright my love
But I can't base the fact of life
By the presence of your smile.

So pretty eyes can't tell no lies
But I came to realise
That a fact as plain as that
Could not change the way I felt

If I would never loose affection
We could turn around
And never loose the ground

Seems like only yesterday
I promised you the world
But now it seems so long ago
How could we do so wrong?

If I could turn the clock around
I would not have changed a bit
But now I guess we better stop
Though I can't tell you what is wrong

If I would never loose affection
We could turn around
And never loose the ground

Thoughts about what cannot be
Haunts me all day long
And I can't sleep
And when I dream I dream of you
Lying sleepless with tears in your eyes

Oh how can it be so hard?
Loving the one you love

In my life
I have loved you more
Much more than any words can say
