

Today, right now, 1999

I don't need to fear
Raindrops just like tears
I'm just reaching open minded
Throughout cloudy skies - for you, you know, for you

This time I'm not sure
I might need a cure
I do want your company
You just wait and see - It'll be, okay, all right

I can see my love's falling bellow
I feel free to let my feelings show

Today, right now, right here, right now, all right

Do I feel okay?
Something's not quite in disguise
I'm just reaching openhearted
While rain falls from the sky
Like teardrops in my eyes, for you, you know for you

Oh I need to reach out for your love
Falling down is easy when you're not here

Can it be
That I see

What it means to take a chance

On letting time go by

In one live
Just one try,
One more try,
In this live,
