

When I look in your eye, 1993

When I look at the sky
All I see is the clouds above my head

When I look at the sky
All I feel is the rain that is falling down

When I look at the sea
All I hear is the waves that are flowing in

When I look at the sea
All I feel is the storm that is coming up

But that doesn't matter to me
Cause to me you are everything
And every time I turn around
It feels like I'm losing control

When I look at the trees
All I see is the leaves that are falling down

When I look at the tress
All I feel is the storm outside my door

When I look in your eyes
All I see is the tears that are falling down

When I look in your eyes
All I feel is the pain in my heart

But that doesn't matter to me
Cause to me you are everything
And every time I turn around

||: I feel like I'm losing control :||